HE activities of the past week at Newport are a convincing argument that those who made it lively there last year can be relied upon to do it again. The last of this month will witness the opening of the show ring at Oakland Farm, the Alfred H. Vanderbilt place. This is to be an event the like of which Newport has never seen, and preparations have been under way for some time. It is to be a horse show and society circus combined, and all society will be invited. The show ring, which is the largest of its kind in the country, is to be the scene of much activity this season, and it will fill a long felt want in social Newport, as there has never been a place where events could be held where the gaze of the outsider could be shut out.

The Duchess of Marlborough will visit her mother, Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, this summer at Newport. Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish and Mr. and Mrs. Lehr have already given an impetus to social affairs by their initial

The following Washingtonians are spending the summer at Linganore Hills Inn, near Frederick, Md.: Mrs. Leroy W. Herron and children, Mrs. C. Mrs. Louis Kerr, a strikingly hand-some woman, was gowned in white net and lace. Misses Emily and Mary Louise Hamilton, sisters of the groom, were the center of kindly attentions and were delightful socially. Mrs. Vanden of Gallipolis, Ohio, cousin of the bride, was a charming addition to the company. Compliments were quite in order in regard to the many beauti-ful toilets worn.—Cincinnati Enquirer of

The marriage of Miss Josephine Porter Boardman to Senator W. Murray Crane will take place Tuesday next at noon at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Boardman, parents of the bride, at Manchester-by-the-Sea, Mass. The members of the contracting families, including the senator's venerable mother, will attent the affair, which is to be of a very quiet and unostentatious nature. After the wedding Senator Crane and his bride will spend some time at his place in Windsor, spend some time at his place in Windsor, and later go abroad for a wedding trip, which will extend throughout the autumn. Having turned over all his business affairs to his son on his election to the Senate, Senator Crane feels free to be away as long as he and his bride care to

Mr. and Mrs. Payne Whitney were guests recently at the marriage in Cleveland of Miss Grace Fleming Harman and Samuel Livingston Mather. The eight bridesmaids wore white tulle frocks with sprays of pink roses over the skirts and carried "Ogontz" bouquets of pink rambler roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor, the bride's sister, Miss Sue Harman, wore a pink tulle gown with sprays of white roses and cargown with sprays of white roses and carried white rambler roses and lilies of the valley. All the maids wore wreaths of roses in their hair. The wedding gown was a beautiful creation of white satin and lace, panels of point lace falling from the lace, panels of point lace failing from the corsage to the hem. A pin in the shape of two leaves, set with diamonds, a wedding gift, was worn. A coronet of orange blossoms held the tulle veil in place, and the shower bouquet was of white orchids and lilles of the valley. A large reception followed at the residence of the bride's parameter. ents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Harman, in Prospect avenue southeast. Mr. and Mrs. Harman and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Mather assisted the bridal party in receiving the guests.

The wedding supper was served in tents on the lawn, the one holding the bride's table being festooned with pink rambler roses. The bride's table was decorated with seven heart-shaped baskets of Killarfavors for the girls were gold bracelets and for the men pretty editions of "The Rev-eries of a Bachelor." The bride's gifts to her maids were gold basket pins with jew-eled flowers, and the bridegroom gave cuff buttons to the men. The walls and ceiling of the large tent were covered with June roses of all colors, and the tables held centerpleces of them tied with shaded ribbons. Mr. and Mrs. Mather left at once on a wedding trip, and after the middle of August will be at home in Ishpeming, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nelson Page are at Rock Lodge, York Harbor, Me., for the summer. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Lindsay are to spend part of the summer with the Pages at York Harbor, where their wedding took place just a year ago.

The surroundings and arrangements of the wedding last Tuesday of Miss Nannie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Kerr of Avondale, and Mr. John J. Hamilton of Washington, D. C., at the beautiful home of Washington, D. C., at the beautiful home of the bride's parents were exceedingly chaste and refined. The spacious porch and every apartment was brilliantly lighted and summer decorations were in evidence. The bay window in the drawing room was an ideal bower of greens. The canopy was fringed with feathery ferns. Leading to this inclosure, were gates held in position by pedestals capped with white vases filled with ferns. The exceedingly impressive ceremony was performed by Father Schoen-hoeft. The bride entered with her father, and was preceded by the groom and best hoeft. The bride entered with her father, and was preceded by the groom and best man, Mr. Maurice Colbert. Her sister, Mrs. T. W. Mitchell, followed and gracefully took her position as matron of honor. She was very handsome, wearing an ex-quisite shade of pink messaline silk, Prin-cess in style; corsage trimmed in Duchess lace. A delicate wreath of pink buds en-circled her head; she carried a bouquet of pink sweet pea blossoms.

The bride is representative of one of the old substantial families of Kentucky and her childhood was spent in Covington. She is a bright, vivacious, interesting young woman with marked characteristics and wife. gifts, which will enable her to grace any position she may be called to fill in her new position she may be called to fill in her new life. She was lovely in white radium silk, the corsage and skirt en tablier, effectively trimmed with duchess lace. Her vell was a pretty arrangement, simply placed upon her shapely head without an ornament. Her only jewel was a gift of the groom, a double bowknot of diamonds. The groom is a prominent attorney of Washington, D. C., a Marylander by birth and is a most polished man.

be in Dalton, Mass, where is situated the only private mill over which the stars and stripes always float. This mill is where the paper for Uncle Sam's greenbacks is made. A bit of reprint tells its history:

"More than a century ago the mill was started by Zenas Crane and the Crane fam-ily still run it. The founder had to face trouble at the very outset, for he lacked the one essential to the manufacture of banknote paper-namely, rags. Italians, junk shops and even rag buyers were unknown then in western Massachusetts.
"So Zenas Crane was forced to issue an appeal to the people. It appeared in the shape of handbills and exhorted thus:

AMERICANS: Encourage Your Own Manufactures, And They Will Improve: LADIES, SAVE YOUR RAGS!

"They urged that 'every woman who has the good of her country and the interests of her family at heart' garner up her rags and send them, in consideration of a 'generous price' to the new factory.

"Elther 'the good of her country' or 'the generous price' appealed to a large number of ladles; for there were rags in abundance when the mill opened. Zenas was super-intendent and had four men, two girls and one small boy to assist him.

'Hand moulds were used and a hundred pounds of paper were turned out daily. Now the working force numbers 400 and it manufactures tons of the finest bank-note paper."

This mill is the basis of Senator Crane's fortune, which is to be reckoned in the mil-lions. The senator's only son was married a year or so ago and is actively engaged in a year or so ago and is actively engaged in the paper business. Miss Boardman comes of good old New England stock. Her great grandfather on her father's side was Elizur-Boardman, United States senator from Connecticut, and her mother's father was Joseph Earl Sheffield of New Haven, Conn., founder of the Sheffield's Scientific School of Yale University. Her father, William J. Boardman, formerly practiced his profession as lawyer in Cleveland and largely engaged in railroad matters. The family has gaged in railroad matters. The family has lived in this city the past sixteen years and has contributed greatly to the social pro-gram each winter. They are all fond of travel and have as a rule gone abroad a part of each year. Miss Mabel Boardman, part of each year. Miss Mabel Boardman, the elder sister of the bride-elect, made the famous Philippine trip with Secretary Taft's party. She is interested in national and local philanthropies. PARKER, BRIDGET & CO. announce the continuation of their annual mark-down sale of women's apparel, at which unusual reductions are made in their high-grade garments in order to insure a clearance of stock. In addition to the lowering in price of expensive tailored suits in cloth, silk, etc., to the buying level of purchasers with small incomes there will also be a special sale of cotton waists, about sixty in all, including many of the season's novelties in batiste, mull and Persian lawn, hand-embroidered and lace-trimmed, together with tailored effects in pure linen, in the modish

THE PALAIS ROYAL states that cabinetmakers, carpenters and painters are to take possession tomorrow and that not a small area of the store will have to be given over to them. This interests the reader, they state, because room has to be made and prices are reduced accordingly. The shirt waists the "Mill and Factory Sale" brought in such quantities and at such little prices are now reduced to a fraction of their actual values. The illustrations of the plain white linen and richly embroidered dresses are linked with prices almost unbelievably little. The Swiss ribbed undergarments, lace and embroidery trimmed lingerie, gauze stockings and sum-mer corsets are bunched into lots at so much for choice and rarest of bargains are offered. When the scarce and wanted long silk gloves are quoted at reduced prices, when the white parasol is made a bargain, the most wanted white belts are but a few pennies, then we come to the conclusion that prices have reached their lowest notch. The news of dress goods, trimmings, laces, embroideries, ribbons and sewing needs help to make the Palais Royal page interesting to the fair reader, especially as some of the erstwhile expensive goods are now to be had at very resasonable prices.

The bathing suit, cap, hat, shoes and other paraphernalia are told of. Note that other paraphernalia are told of. Note that the necessary but often forgotten rubberlined bag is on the list. It's just the thing to hold one's wet bathing clothes.
What a chance for the pyrographic expert—writing desks, chairs and other large pleces, stamped for burning, are to be yours at less than the cost of the wood that is used in the making. Judged by the Palais Royal news, now is the time to buy a refrigerator, gas or oil stove or range, dinner and tea set, bed and table linen and other home needs. Turn to the Palais Royal page and see if the im-pressions of the reader have not been pretty well portrayed.

JULIUS GARFINKLE & CO., realizing the importance of clearing off present stock before the arrival of fall goods, will offer the coming week exceptional values in their modish garments. The suits are in black and desirable colors in fashionable weaves. These models possess the quality and correct cut and finish for which this house is noted and have been reduced to the reach of economical buyers.

S. KANN, SONS & CO.'S clearing sales for the summer season, announced for this week, promise some of the best bargains ever offered.

Clearance prices are found in nearly every department, notably that of summer outer and under garments, wash goods, laces, embroideries and footwear. The dress and suit department not only have reduced the prices on their own stock, but are fortunate enough to be able to offer some fine dresses bought at a manufacturer's clearance price. These are beautiful gowns of lingerie batiste, made in princess and two-piece models.

The waist shop on the second floor has six tables full of exceptional cut-price bargains in waists.

six tables full of exceptional cut-price bargains in waists.

On the same floor is a big bargain spread of lawn kimonas and short ones, also dressing sacques. A similar sale held by this firm a few weeks ago brought in the feminine portion of the community in crowds, and tomorrow's sale promises as great things for July purchasers. The wise buyer, therefore, will be the early one.

Down in the front of the store on the first floor a bewildering array of cut-price silks, at about one-fourth their former for the purpose of securing a small amount selling price—beautiful patterns and color— of life insurance.

Trimmings, neckwear, wool goods and the art department also have many good offerings under this head.

PETTIT & CO. are to have a clearance sale of silk mulle, India linons, batiste, lingerie and dotted Swiss suits at reductions of one-half and all parasols at cost. Regardless of this reduction, the house invites the shopping world to open an account and pay but little at a time PHILIPSBORN announces a July clearance sale of ladies' suits, coats, waists, summer dresses and walking skirts, which are to be closed out at marked reductions. The entire line of millinery will be placed on sale with an utter disregard of price valuations, and women who have not yet completed their summer needs may find bautiful lingerie waists and warm weather skirts at remarkably low prices. HUB FURNITURE CO. is continuing its rebuilding sales with even greater bargains than prevailed last week. The house has made a thorough inventory of its stock and marked everything down to the lowest possible price consistent with the value of the goods. They assure customers that they may buy everything on their usual credit terms and pay when convenient. Special features include refrigerators, go-carts, dressers, metal beds, hammock chairs, lawn swings and remnants in oil-cloth and matting.

LANSBURGH & BRO. are leaving nothing undone to aid in the making of a successful vacation for those who buy at their house. They have fitted up displays of outing needfuls, things for long trips and short ones. They include white suits of all kinds and white waists and materials for the same, if you prefer to make them; belts, vells, gloves, etc., genuine first aids to the summer girl when away from home. A spe-cial general feature of the week will be stunning wash coat suits of rep, cannon cloth and linen and an equally attractive assortment of shirt waist suits of India lawn. For those who like to vary white waists with colored ones there are many dainty effects in plain ground percales with stripes and figures open in front and made with long sleeves. Summer silks, satisfac-tory both in wear and price, are to be found in all popular colors and bathing suit silks of heavy taffeta and peau de soie, which are now the most elegant to be seen

ARMY AND NAVY UNION.

Fraternal Visit Paid to Admiral Porter Garrison.

Visitors from Gen. William F. Barry and Col. Theodore Roosevelt garrisons paid a fraternal visit last Friday night to Admiral David D. Porter Garrison, Army and Navy Union. The visitors were welcomed on behalf of Porter Garrison by Junior Vice Commander John Ash. By request, National Commander Browne, who was present, was called to the chair to preside. A brief business session followed, at which Mr. Robert Wilkerson was initiated. Adjutant John Mohl read the semi-annual report, and a committee, consisting of John port, and a committee, consisting of John Ash, William Coulier and John Stilwell, was appointed to arrange with Barry and Roosevelt garrisons for a proposed joint outing. In the "good of the union exercises," which was opened with a speech by Gen. Browne, remarks were made by Otto Sontag and William A. Hickey of Roosevelt Garrison, Harry Burns and James V. Wilson of Porter Garrison and James M. Lucas and William J. Johnson of Barry Garrison.
